Excerpt: . . . court by proclamation, from time to time, as justice may require. Sect. 14, Whenever a justice of the peace is unable, by reason of sickness, or other unforeseen cause, to attend at the time and place by him appointed for holding a court, any other justice in the county, who can legally try a cause between the parties in the pending suit, may continue such cause once, not exceeding thirty days, and note such continuance on the writ in such suit. The language of the Revised Statutes is different from that of the statute of 1834, and was obviously intended to enlarge the power of the justice, who might be required to continue a cause pending before another justice. It authorizes him to Von. xxxl. - 43 continue it once at any time appointed for holding the court, by the justice before whom the cause is...
